Main types of OA

Open Access Avenues

Embargo

Often the AM will have an embargo period before being made OA

Accepted Manuscript (post-print)

Version after peer-review and before typesetting

Version of Record
(Published version)
Final version as it appears in journal after peer-review

Submitted Manuscript (pre-print)

First draft not yet subject to peer-review

Manuscript Versions

Open Access Avenues

NZ universities could massively improve research accessibility

Publishers allow authors to deposit final manuscript copies in our research repositories but we don't.
Taking advantage of this would catapult from the 40% shown above to 67%.

TWO out of every THREE publications would be available.

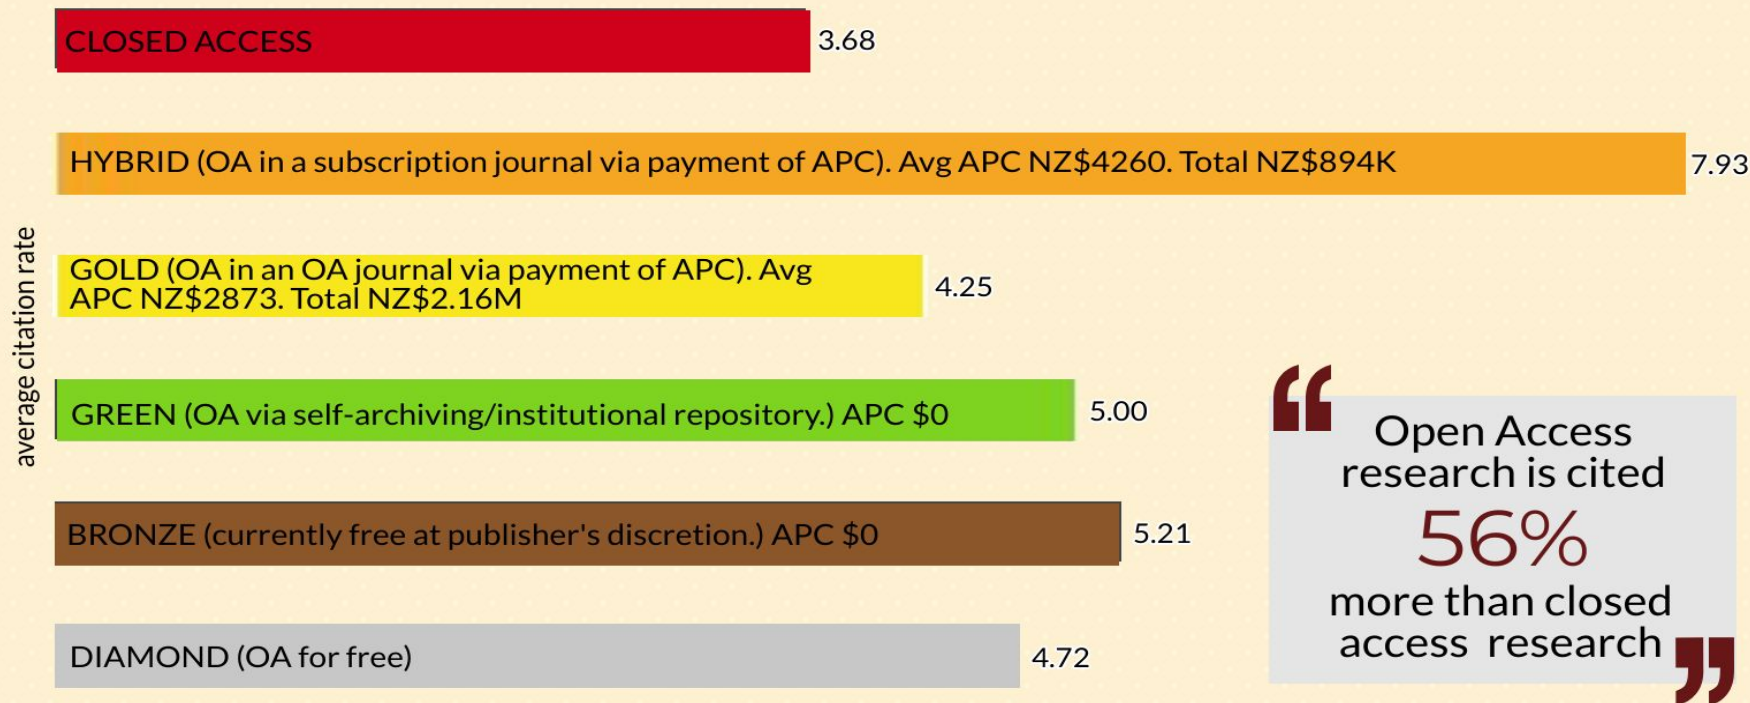

Greater access = greater impact
(see Citation Advantage.)
